A Tribute to Amos Rothe.

FRANCE, Dec. 24, 1918.

Mr. Fritz Rothe, D'Hanis, Texas:

DEAR FRIEND—It is with deep regret that I have just learned of the death of your splendid boy. I knew Amos well and was in a position to appreciate his many fine and manly qualities. He sacrificed himself upon the altar of his country, and while it fills our hearts with sadness to see such a splendid young man pay the supreme sacrifice, still if we must die what nobler cause than to die for our country. Please accept my deepest sympathy in the deep sorrow that has cast its shadow over your house, and may the good Lord give you and Mrs. Rothe and your daughter strength and consolation in this hour of grief.

Your friend,

WM. H. SMITH,

First Lieutenant, U. S. Army, A. E. F.

Walter Hanse was here from Houston this week the guest of relatives, Mr. and Mrs. George Britsch, and family.

THE INCREASING BUSINESS of this BANK is an indication that the service it renders is satisfactory. If not already a patron, may we not have your account? We give our customers as liberal accommodations as is consistent with sound banking.

In Sympathy.

To those Parents Whose Sons Paid the Supreme Sacrifice:

In a classic epistle that was written several centuries ago, these words are to be found, "Bear ye one another's burdens." If we have been slow in expressing our grief, it is because the heart that is crushed with sorrow mourns slowly. We are made perfect through suffering. Sorrow upon sorrow is yours. The days are getting no shorter; the wave that sweeps over your poor, tired, lonely souls, is becoming no lighter.

It has been said, there is a bird that never learns to sing until his master covers the cage and then he sings until the bird's soul becomes filled with the song of his master. It may be that God has covered the cage and is now singing to you, "It is I, be not afraid." Some lives are like roses, they give forth their best only after being crushed.

I wish it was in my power to enter into your suffering, "that Heaven alone can heal."

Job loved God no less because his children had been taken, but said, "The Lord gave, the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord."

May within twelve months from now there be in the court house yard a monument, dedicated to the memory of the ones you love so dearly.

Affectionately written.

J. W. LONG.

The ladies of the Hondo Cemetery Association will have a meeting at the Methodist Church Thursday afternoon, Feb. 20th, at 3 p. m. The Cemetery Association has been inactive for over a year, but some are anxious to revive the work again, so all old members and any one who is interested in the cemetery and will co-operate with the association, will please be present.

Memorial Services.

A Memorial Service for the soldiers and sailors who have given up their lives for their country will be held at the Catholic Church on Saturday, February 22, at 9 o'clock a. m. It will consist of a Requiem High Mass, short sermon and general Absolution of the Dead. As the day will be a national holiday (Washington's birthday), it is hoped there will be a large attendance out of respect and gratitude for our fallen heroes.

Have You Heard About It?

About what? About the service next Sunday at the Methodist Church.

Sunday School 9:45 a. m.; preaching at 11 a. m. and at 7:30 p. m. Come and worship with us and we will do you good.

J. W. LONG, Pastor.

Mrs. Aug. Kempf and daughter, Miss Mary, have spent the week in San Antonio.

Appreciation.

Now that I have disposed of the business which I heretofore conducted under the name of the "Martin Drug Co." to Messrs. O. A. Fly and H. A. Mercer, I wish to return my grateful appreciation to the people of Hondo and vicinity for the generous patronage extended me, and solicit a continuance of same for my successors, assuring you that they will do their utmost to please you and merit a share of your patronage.

All outstanding accounts due or owing by the late Martin Drug Co. will be settled by the new firm.

Yours sincerely,

MARTIN DRUG CO.,
per F. A. Martin

Notice.

We have purchased the entire stock of the Martin Drug Co. from Mr. F. A. Martin, and will continue this business under the name of Fly & Mercer, Drug-gists. We will keep a complete and up-to-date stock of everything in the drug line, assuring the public that a share of its patronage will be greatly appreciated.

Respectfully,

O. A. FLY,
H. A. MERCER.

Card of Thanks.

We hereby wish to thank those kind neighbors and friends who so generously and lovingly assisted us during the recent illness of our beloved darling, Beatrice, and further do we thank all those who attended the funeral as well as for the many appropriate and touching floral offerings.

MR. AND MRS. JOS. J. RIHN.

Notice to the Farmers.

Hondo, Texas, Feb. 10, 1919.
I find it impossible to get a car of Duroc Jersey hogs from any one breeder, but by placing my order at once I can get twenty registered bred gilts, bred by one of the best hog breeders in the South; they are sired by Col. Pathfinder and Prairie View Rex, two of the finest boars that were ever in the South. They are all bred by Chief's Orion King 4th. These gilts can be bought for one hundred dollars a piece, delivered and accompanied by their breeder to Hondo. All registered papers come with hogs. I consider this the greatest opportunity for the farmers of Medina County to build up their herds. If you wish to get one of these gilts send me your order at once. If you want to make a good investment buy one of these gilts, the first litter of pigs will more than repay you.

Yours very truly,

C. M. MERRITT,
County Demonstration Agent.

The commissioners court was in session the first of the week, but little business outside the regular routine was transacted. A petition was presented to the court praying for a change in the route of the proposed state highway, the petitioners asking that the road be built from Castroville to Quihi, thence to Hondo, instead of via Dunlay, as now proposed. Action on the petition was postponed to give all interested parties an opportunity to appear before the court for and against the proposed change. The First National Bank of Hondo was again designated as the county depository, the bank to pay interest on the county funds at the rate of 3 1/2 per cent on daily balances.

Cord-wood, stove-wood and stumps taken on subscription by this paper.

Two soldiers were arrested and jailed here the first of the week charged with the theft of an automobile in San Antonio. Monday evening, when Jailor Favors entered the jail to transfer the prisoners from the run-a-round to the cells for the night the two soldiers assaulted him, knocked him senseless and made their get-a-way. Military police came out from San Antonio Monday night to get the prisoners but as they had taken French leave, of course, had to return empty-handed. Wednesday a squad of military police, acting with Sheriff Bader and posse, apprehended the two soldiers in the vicinity of Sturm Hill and again took them in custody, and they were carried back to San Antonio. A Mexican, who was also in jail with a charge of cow theft against him, made his escape from jail in company with the soldiers, and is still at large. He was in company with the two soldiers when overtaken by the military police, but evaded arrest by his fleetfootedness, despite six shots fired at him, none of which, however, is thought to have found its mark. The automobile has been restored to its owner in San Antonio. The two soldiers involved hail from northern states, one coming from Massachusetts while the other claims New York as his home. Should they escape punishment by the military authorities it is probable they will be brought back to this county for trial as their is a charge against them of breaking into a garage and stealing gasoline. None of the other prisoners in the jail attempted to escape.

KILL TICK for cattle and sheep dipping at Kuntz-Flint Lumber Co. 28-2f

There is no longer such a character as Bill Schmitt, U. S. N. It is now Citizen "Mickey" Schmitt of San Francisco, he having received his discharge from the navy. Mickey, like all the other Hondo boys, was anxious to return to civil life when it became evident that there was no longer any chance of his crossing over and helping make junk out of the German navy. He will make his home in the "Earthquake City" for awhile at least, perhaps until the Polchiviki make life too strenuous in that portion of Uncle Sam's homestead, as they seem somewhat disposed to do along the Pacific coast. But one Hondo boy, Willie Crow, now remains in the naval service on the western coast and he is liable to blow in any time, he also being anxious to return to civil life.

Clyde Holloway, the marine who was at home on a furlough, delivered an address at the Auditorium Friday evening Feb. 7, his subject being the great battles in France. After a brief introduction by Hon. L. J. Brucks, Mr. Holloway, for more than hour, held the closest attention of the tremendous audience present as he detailed incidents of the greatest struggle men ever engaged in, a subject with which he was perfectly conversant, his unit, the marines, taking prominent parts in nearly all the sanguinary conflicts. It seems almost incredible that anyone could escape unscathed from the perfect rain of machine gun bullets, shrapnell, etc., that dealt death on the fields of carnage. He paid a high tribute to the citizen soldiers, those inducted into the service through the select draft system, many of whom could trace their lineage back to the enemy country, saying that no better soldiers ever faced an enemy on a battle field, showing that their allegiance was wholly with their own country.

The large audience showed no signs of weariness and would have sit for another hour listening to the interesting recital had the speaker been disposed to continue. Mr. Holloway left today for Quantico, Va., his present headquarters.

NEBRASKA JUDGE
NOW ENDORSES IT.

Hon. B. F. Whittington Has Gained Twenty Pounds By Taking Tanlac—Wants To Help Others.

One of the latest additions to the long list of prominent men in public life, who have endorsed Tanlac, is the name of Hon. B. F. Whittington, Judge of the Roison Court, South Omaha, Nebraska. In relating his experience with the medicine, Judge Whittington said:

"The results I have obtained from Tanlac seem wonderful to me. Before I began taking it, my health was broken in many ways. My liver was all out of fix, I was habitually constipated and bilious. I was so frightfully dizzy most of the time, that I could not stoop over for fear of falling. My kidneys were out of order and I had fearful pains in the small of my back. I could eat but my food did me no good. Sleep failed to rest me and I felt tired and worn out all the time. I had been in this condition for a year and was becoming badly worried as nothing seemed to reach my case.

"I had fallen off twenty pounds in weight as a result of my troubles, but I have gained it all back by using Tanlac and have never felt better in my life. I felt like a new man before I finished my first bottle. I took five bottles and now I haven't an ache or pain and am feeling great. I eat like a farm hand, sleep like a log and get up in the morning feeling fine. I gladly give this statement for what it may be worth to others who are trying to find relief."

Tanlac is sold in Hondo by W. H. Windrow.

Fifty thousand people publicly thank Doan's. What other kidney remedy can give this proof of merit, honesty and truth? Home testimony must be true, or it could not be published here. Read this Hondo recommendation. Then insist in having Doan's. You will know what you are getting.

Mrs. X. Wantz says: "My kidneys were disordered for some time. I had a dull, bearing-down pain in the small of my back which steadily grew worse and it hurt me to stoop or straighten. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a box at the Martin Drug Co. They gave me relief right away and did me a lot of good in every way. I don't hesitate to say a good word for Doan's and to recommend them to other kidney sufferers."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Wantz had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Right of Choice.

You cannot always choose your associates, but you can select your companions, observes a sage. Circumstances may throw you with people who are distasteful to you, but circumstances cannot force you to take them to your hearts and into your confidence. Choice is stronger than environment. Wherever you are, you always have the privilege of choosing.

Live Right.

Right living and the right kind of work have changed many a stunted boy into a well-developed man, asserts an educator. Spiritual growth is not greatly aided by sitting down and thinking about it. Live in the sunshine of trust. Rely on a strength higher than your own. Reach out helpfully to others, and growth in the divine life will look after itself.

When the bowels become irregular you are uncomfortable and the longer this condition exists the worse you feel. You can get rid of this misery quickly by using HERBINE. Take a dose on going to bed and see how fine you feel next day. Sold by W. H. Windrow.

Mysterious Happenings Puzzle.

Psychologists and students of the supernatural have been investigating a series of strange manifestations at Cheriton, near Folkestone, England. F. W. Rolfe, a local builder, had contracted to construct an underground retreat in the grounds of Enbrook Manor. He had been at work for some days when he was attacked by stones and pieces of rock, which were hurled at him by some mysterious agency. Hammers and other implements "float-ed" through the air towards him and his candles were extinguished by jets of sand. He was injured by the missiles, and gave up work for two days, but on resuming operations the same terrifying experiences were repeated, and he has now relinquished the work altogether. Sir Conan Doyle and Sir William Barrett, ex-president of the Society for Psychical Research, have examined the excavation and questioned the witnesses. They expressed the opinion that some intangible power had been at work.

A scald, burn, or severe cut heals slowly if neglected. The family that keeps a bottle of BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT on hand is always prepared for such accidents. Sold by W. H. Windrow.

Read Up on Civil War.

One of the peculiar facts concerning the entrance of America into the war the stimulus given to reading and discussion of the American Civil war. The perusal of Civil war histories in England has become almost a mania and more books treating of the great conflict have been sold in England in one year than in America during the last ten years.

The reason is simple: England and the allies generally "want a line" on the American as a fighting man. The Spanish-American war failed as an adequate criterion because we had Spain so hopelessly outclassed from the beginning. But some of the greatest battles in the history of the world were fought in the Civil war. The percentage of death losses in actual battle were higher than that of any other war ever fought. The verdict seems to be that Americans know a good deal about the sanguinary business of killing.

Gas in the stomach or bowels is a disagreeable symptom of a torpid liver. To get rid of it quickly take HERBINE. It is a marvelous liver stimulant and bowel purifier. Sold by W. H. Windrow.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the Child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.

Health About Gone

Many thousands of women suffering from womanly trouble, have been benefited by the use of Cardui, the woman's tonic, according to letters we receive, similar to this one from Mrs. Z. V. Spell, of Hayne, N. C. "I could not stand on my feet, and just suffered terribly," she says. "As my suffering was so great, and he had tried other remedies, Dr. — had us get Cardui. . . I began improving, and it cured me. I know, and my doctor knows, what Cardui did for me, for my nerves and health were about gone."

TAKE

CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

She writes further: "I am in splendid health . . . can do my work. I feel I owe it to Cardui, for I was in dreadful condition." If you are nervous, run-down and weak, or suffer from headache, backache, etc., every month, try Cardui. Thousands of women praise this medicine for the good it has done them, and many physicians who have used Cardui successfully with their women patients, for years, endorse this medicine. Think what it means to be in splendid health, like Mrs. Spell. Give Cardui a trial.

Where Most Sickness Begins and Ends

BY FRANKLIN DUANE, M. D.

It can be said broadly that most human ills begin in the stomach and end in the stomach. Good digestion means good health, and poor digestion means bad health. The minute your stomach fails to properly dispose of the food you eat, troubles begin to crop out in various forms. Indigestion and dyspepsia are the commonest forms, but thin, impure blood, headaches, backaches, pimples, blotches, dizziness, belching, coated tongue, weakness, poor appetite, sleeplessness, coughs, colds and bronchitis are almost as common. There is but one way to keep your stomach in good order. This is easy to do if you take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is a wonderful tonic and blood purifier, and is so safe to take, for it is made of roots and herbs. Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., stands behind this standard medicine, and it is good to know that so distinguished a physician is proud to have his name identified with it. When you take Golden Medical Discovery, you are getting the benefit of the experience of a doctor whose reputation goes all around the earth. Still more, you get a temperance medicine that contains not a drop of alcohol or narcotic of any kind. Long ago Dr. Pierce combined certain valuable vegetable ingredients—without the use of alcohol—so that these remedies always have been strictly temperance medicines. If piles are torturing you, get and use Pierce's Anodyne Pile Ointment. The quick relief it gives is hard to believe until you try it. If constipated, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be taken while using Anodyne Pile Ointment. Few indeed are the cases which these splendid remedies will not relieve and usually overcome. They are so good that nearly every drug store has them for sale.

Harry Hans and Adolph Ahr were San Antonio visitors Monday.

Mrs. John Franger is visiting in San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Tschirhart, Jr., and two sons, of Noonan, were shopping here Monday.

In Memoriam

of Little Emil Zuberbueler.

Sleep calmly in thy slumber, Angel child, Sweet peace to thee in thy home above; There still remain within this mortal life Those who thy pure memory love.

We live, and yet are sure some day must die; But oh! how hard to give thee up! Yet, still blessing thy name, we can only sigh Father in Heaven, let thy will be done.

And the poor parents, whose hearts are broken, Mourning their child so dearly loved, At thought of his life so pure and sweet, Say to Thee: Thy will be done.

Adieu, little darling, thou art enjoying The eternal bliss of the Heavenly Throne; But we will all meet thee there again to part no more.

Rhodes Grass.

By FLETCHER DAVIS.

Field Agent of the State Department of Agriculture.

Nine cuttings in one season from the first sowing of Rhodes Grass is the achievement of the Wilson county farmer with the wonderful forage crop.

On the 10th of May, 1918, Mr. E. W. Schneider planted one acre of this grass. He cut it nine times before frost and averaged nearly a ton and a half at each cutting, or 13 tons for the season. The hay is equal, if not superior, to the best grade of timothy hay. The hay is being fed on the farm, but it is easily worth $25 per ton on the market and so this acre yielded $325 worth of hay and the crop followed an onion harvest of the early spring. Besides, the soil is set to the grass and unless the temperature drops below 18 degrees during the winter, the crop will reproduce itself from the stubble next season.

Mr. Schneider's soil is a fertile river-bottom soil. He irrigated the crop with water from the San Antonio river, raising it with gasoline-engine-driven pumping machinery. During the hottest, driest part of the year, the crop was irrigated after each cutting, but during more favorable weather conditions two cuttings were made to one watering. After the first cutting the crop was ready to mow every 16 or 18 days thereafter.

The first effort of Mr. Schneider to grow Rhodes grass was not so successful. An earlier planting in the spring of 1918 failed to come up to a stand. His experience has taught him that the seeds must be planted on a well prepared seedbed, that the ground must be warm and that surface moisture conditions must be so nearly ideal that the tiny rootlets of the plant can have time to strike down into the soil beneath before the surface dries out.

The seeds must be planted very shallow—the shallower the better; the baby plants are very delicate; and, therefore, a warm, moist season is the ideal time in which to plant. Where irrigation is depended upon the nearer conditions can be made to approach this ideal the better. Once well rooted, the grass is hardy and thrifty, withstands long and severe periods of drouth, and responds quickly to favorable moisture conditions. We have never heard of its being attacked by plant disease or ravaged by any special insect enemy. Its roots will retain life and vitality at a temperature as low as 18 degrees, and it has been known to survive even colder weather, reproducing itself more vigorously, under favorable conditions, the succeeding year than the first. How long it will continue to reproduce itself from the sod in this country, where not destroyed by severe freezes, remains to be yet determined.

Mr. Schneider says that unless cotton growing becomes more remunerative, he is going to increase his acreage of Rhodes grass and engage more extensively in the raising of livestock. He regards it as an ideal pasture grass as well as forage crop.—Farm and Ranch, February 8, 1919.

Getting Rid of Colds.

The easiest and quickest way to get rid of a cold is to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This preparation has been in use for many years and its value fully proven. No matter what remedy you use, however, care must be taken not to contract a second cold before you have recovered from the first one, and there is serious danger of this. A man of middle age or older should go to bed and stay in bed until fully recovered. It is better to stay in bed three days at the start than three weeks later on.

Forty Five Years of Success The astonishing Record of PERUNA

Not a cure-all, but a rational remedy for catarrh and all inflammation and congestion of the mucous membranes.

Catarrh attacks the mucous linings, in any organ, in any part of the body. It is not, as some imagine, confined to the nose and throat, although nasal catarrh is the most common form and afflicts many people.

Unchecked catarrh soon breaks down the tissue and destroys the organs or part. Evidence of the ravages of catarrh are all around us. Without desire to frighten anyone, we say: "Guard yourself against catarrh as you would against the direst plague. Fortify your system. Take Peruna."

INSPIRING WORDS FOR THE SICK FROM THOSE WHO KNOW.

A Good Medicine in the Family. I had a bad case of LaGrippe and could get no relief. Peruna cured me. It is a fine medicine. We often use it in the family and find it good. MRS. GENTRY GATES, 8225 First Avenue, East Lake Station, Birmingham, Alabama.

FEELS LIKE A DIFFERENT PERSON. Peruna has cured my stomach and I feel like a different person. I only took twelve bottles of Peruna and can eat anything without distress, something I have not done for fifteen years. I recommend Peruna to everybody suffering with catarrh of the stomach. 1029 16th St., Columbus, Georgia.

J. J. THOMPSON.

FOR ALL FORMS OF CATARRH.

Peruna is indicated for all forms of catarrh or catarrhal inflammation and congestion of the mucous linings in any part or organ, such as nose, throat, bronchial tubes, lungs, stomach, bowels, kidneys, bladder, etc. It is fine for coughs, colds and effects of the grip and an excellent preventive remedy.

That Terrible Headache.

Do you have periodic attacks of headache accompanied by sickness of the stomach or vomiting, a sallow skin and dull eyes? If so, you can get quick relief by taking Chamberlain's Tablets as directed for biliousness, and you may be able to avoid these attacks if you observe the directions with each package.

Dreadful Cough Cured.

A severe cold is often followed by a rough cough for which Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has proven especially valuable. Mrs. F. W. Olsen, Marysville, Mo., writes: "About 2 years ago my little boy, Jean, caught a severe cold and coughed dreadfully for days. I tried a number of cough medicines but nothing did him any good until I gave him Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It relieved his cough right away and before he had finished taking one bottle he was cured. I think it is just fine for children."

Died at Lytle.

Mr. Chris. Scoggins, age 68 years, died at Lytle Thursday, Jan. 30, and the remains were interred Friday evening by the side of a son who died recently. He was a native of Missouri, a member of the Baptist church, came to Lytle recently from Yancey, his father-in-law to N. W. Ward of Yancey, and leaves a widow and ten children. Funeral was conducted by Elder W. L. Dubose. He was the third member of the family to die this winter, a son having died in Oklahoma, following the one at Lytle.—Devine News.

Reason Enthroned.

Because meats are so tasty they are consumed in great excess. This leads to stomach troubles, biliousness and constipation. Revise your diet, for reason and not a pampered appetite control, then take a few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets, and you will soon be well again. Try it.

It is melting as fast as it is falling. One man said that he had seen snow 18 inches deep and for 2 months. This time of the year. People say it lies here for four months or longer at a time. Quite different than home, I think. When I told them it was morning that I had seen snow but three times before I came here, they were surprised.

From what I saw in the papers it must be very cold weather at home. Hope you have enough feed for the stock. Well, it is seven months ago today we left Camp Travis. Quite a while, but what changes have occurred!

A lot of things have happened at this time of the month. Day after tomorrow it will be four months since our division took part in its first great drive (the St. Mihiel drive). Yesterday, two months ago, the armistice was signed. Day before yesterday it was six months since we landed in England. Last, but not least, two years before that, and seven months since I was home last time and for you.

Well, I hope it won't be seven more. Who can tell? Not one, I am sure. Being here six months, entitles us to service stripes. I think we will get them in a few days. We are wearing division insignia, it is shaped thus, it stands for Texas and Oklahoma. It is worn on the left shoulder and its color is red. We also will get an insignia as "army of occupation"; it is a blue circle with a dark red cloth and on this is a white A.

Some say we also will get an "overseas" insignia, but I don't know for sure. O, if we stay here long enough, guess we will look like a crazy quilt.

There are a lot of things I would like to write and a lot of questions I would ask but dare not to, so I will let it go. There are a lot of things I would like to write and a lot of questions I would ask but dare not to, so I will let it go.

guess you will wonder many times I work with the sick. All but a few are easy to take care of, but my match the last time. One man was delirious for six days; he tried to get up and away and it was all one could do to watch and take care of him, but he was the only one so bad.

After he got back to his senses he was so weak that he could not raise his head, and you should have seen him holding my arm around him and feed him with a spoon. It was but for a few days only and he got well, and the I saw of him he was well on the way to recovery and, I hope, home.

If all the many patients I have had, one died, and he was too far gone to get to the hospital. Of all cases we had, and there were several thousand of them, sick and wounded, we only lost a few. You could put them on your fingers of one hand, thanks to the good doctors we have in our company.

Hope you got the letters I have written lately. There is no news at all. Hondo boys are all well. Write in answer to this letter and give me news received.

Now, dear parents, take care of yourselves and don't let little things worry you, and about me either. Give my best regards to all and my love to grandmother and you, from son Mimke in far away Germany.

The Individuality of the Child.

Mrs. R. H. Hudspeth addressed the members of the Mother's Club Monday afternoon with the following timely topics:
A child in his weakness is a creature of circumstances depending upon the early training and home environments, and later the school. The young babe in his mother's arms is taught and grasps ideas from sight long before it is able to reason them within his own mind. The child who appeals to my sympathy most is the one whose mother spends her time reading novels, mincing chocolates and doing society, leaving her child to the care of others. That is the child you find on the street continually, for home and mother mean nothing to it, and it goes into the school room at the early age of seven with its mind poisoned—individuality there? Yes, with a vengeance. Poor little tender plant that has been allowed to grow among weeds and briars, fighting for its very existence. What may we expect of an individual of that kind? Is the child to blame, mother?

When the child turns out badly in later years you may hear those same parents say: Well, I sent him to school, I did my duty by him. Then it is no wonder the poor boy turned out wrong. Your duty implies merely school, food, and clothes—why, a public institution would give him that! What the boy needed most was deep draughts of love; he needed to live in an atmosphere of sweet sympathy, counsel and trust. The mother should ever be an unfailing refuge, a constant resource and inspiration. Years of careful teaching of a child to be honest and truthful may be nullified in an instant by the mother misrepresenting the age of her child to the street car conductor to save a nickel. The parent or teacher who does not hold the confidence, love and respect of the child, is a failure.

The teacher, whose dealings with his pupils are not all that truth, honor and justice will warrant, had just as well burn his certificate and quit as far as the good of the child is concerned.

Every child is a marvel of unknown and unrealized possibilities. It is said that nine-tenths of an iceberg is always below water. Nine-tenths of the possibilities of good and evil of the individual is ever hidden from his sight. The world's greatest and best men were failures in some line, failures many times before failure was crowned with success.

We may sometimes envy the individuality and power of Paul without realizing the weak Saul of Tarsus.

There is a charm in ever doing our best, ever daring more, and the full measure of our final attainments can never be told in advance.

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

Hieroglyphics Stamped on Gold and Silver in 1300.

Guild Formed in Early Days to Protect the Buyer in the Matter of Purity of Metal.

What are the strange hieroglyphics stamped on the back of silver articles in England, and what do these marks signify? This is a question which has often puzzled the inquisitive. A tedious and technical subject, you say. On the contrary, a most absorbing and appealing one. Read here what an expert in the matter of these markings has to say, and be convinced.

"The first hall mark was used in Paris in 1300. It was employed for both gold and silver, principally the former. Some goldsmiths had been underselling others and as there was no difference in labor or perfection of detail, it was obvious that much inferior metal was being used. So a guild was founded to protect the buyer in the matter of purity of metal. The guild specified the 'Paris touch,' which meant that a certain standard of metal was to be maintained.

"About 1327 a stir took place in England for a slightly different reason. Privateering off the coast was frequent, the result being that silver vessels were brought back and made either into coins or other vessels. As the product was of a lower grade than the English standard, a goldsmiths' guild was established there also, with the rather awe-inspiring title of 'Origin and Mystery of the Fellowship of Goldsmiths.' The guild specified that standard metal must contain 925 parts of silver and 75 parts of copper. Its members had authority to travel through the provinces of the United Kingdom assaying silver vessels, and if any specimen was not up to standard it was confiscated or a fine of double its value was imposed on the maker.

"When a piece was made it was the custom to send it to the guildhall. There it was assayed and if found to be of the proper proportion it was stamped with the English hall mark, or as it was then called, the 'guildhall mark,' commonly referred to as 'the king's touch.'

"A leopard's head was the first mark employed in England and the maker also was privileged to place his own stamp upon it, which generally consisted of the first two letters of his surname. As so few people were able to read, most of the tradesmen had signs which they placed on their productions, hence the modern trade mark. In 1459 the guildhall added a letter marking the year that a piece was made, but as the full alphabet was not used, the date is very difficult to determine. Later the leopard's head was changed to a lion passant, which in turn gave way to a lion's head erased with a figure of Britannia.

"The collector of old silver must look out for the method of 'glorifying' used by unscrupulous dealers who cut the hall marks out of old spoons or forks and fit them into a big piece to mislead the unwary. It is extraordinary that so much good old English silver has survived, considering the vicissitudes through which it has passed. In the Wars of the Roses, for instance, much plate was confiscated and melted into coins for carrying on the strife."

Stones in Form of Cross.

Staurolite is a curious mineral, or stone, found only in Virginia and North Carolina, not very valuable but interesting on account of a legend that attaches to it. The name is from the Greek stauros, a cross. The stone is found in the form of a cross, or sometimes a double cross. Another name for the stone is the "fairly stone," and this also relates to the legend that the fairies living in the caves of the mountains, on hearing the sad tidings of the death of Christ fashioned these crosses as mementos of him. There has always been some commercial demand for the stones as curious and they are worn as watch charms or on chains with lockets.

Wouldn't Be Stighted.

The principal of a school once had occasion to lick a very refractory pupil. It was very meager punishment, but the child complained to his father when he went home that day. The next day the father paid the principal a visit.

"I understand," said the irate parent, "that you licked my boy yesterday."

"I did," was the reply, "but not severely."

"Well," said the father, "I want you to know that I am one of the largest taxpayers in this place and my boy is entitled to as good a licking as any other boy gets. If you slight him again, you'll hear from me in no uncertain terms."

Rope Making.

The rope industry is largely dependent upon Russian, Italian, American and Manila hemp, the latter being far more used than any other. With the exception of Manila, all these hems are of the best fiber—that is, they are obtained from the bark of the plant. The hemp is cut, dried, and then stacked in bundles. Later, it is again spread out and exposed to dew, frost and sun, a process that rots the gums binding the filaments. The dry inner woody part of the stem then falls off and leaves the fibrous strips in condition to be cleaned and baled for transportation.

HENRY FOURTH OF GERMANY

King's Troubles in Helping to Rule the World Included Much Suffering and Humiliation.

Of all the warring monarchs who had a part in running the world during the infancy of government none was more picturesque than Henry IV of Germany. And he suffered perhaps the greatest humiliation that ever was visited upon a king, writes a historian. Gregory VII became pope in the seventh decade of the eleventh century. The election did not please Henry in the least. Under the pilfered title of Roman king he claimed a share in papal affairs and did not propose to be treated lightly. But Gregory persuaded him to confirm his elevation. Then dissension broke out between the two, and Henry's partisans unseated the pope, who retired to Canossa, in the Apennines.

Gregory retaliated on Henry by wielding that most powerful weapon of the church—excommunication. This casting out of the faith was the most feared of all fates in ancient days, and even Henry's close advisers fell away from him. The king faced the storm bravely enough, but things went against him and he decided to propitiate Gregory. So, in the midst of winter he crossed the Alps, a truly prodigious undertaking in those times, and presented himself before the castle where Gregory was staying, asking audience. At first Gregory refused, but then consented on condition that Henry dismiss all his attendants and enter alone. The German complied and quitted his suite to go inside the walls.

Further on he came to a second gate, where he was told that the pope had ordered him divested of all his regal ornaments and clothing before proceeding. Henry reluctantly consented, and received in exchange a coarse woolen tunic. Wearing this, he passed through the gate, thinking his troubles over. But there remained a last gate and a final trial. For three days and nights he was kept standing outside the gate in severe weather, fasting from morning until night. At the end of that time Gregory finally had the king ushered before him and agreed to lift the ban if Henry would consent to a truce between them, made distinctly on the pope's terms. To this Henry agreed and was restored to the church.

He left soon after, nursing his hatred for Gregory and determined to square accounts. This led to the pope nominating another prince for Henry's throne and to endless warfare. The king was excommunicated a second time and continued under the ban most of his troublous life. There have been few instances of a monarch undergoing any such humiliation as that he experienced, standing outside the pope's door for three days in freezing weather.

Now a K. P.

A young aviator at one of the aviation fields, wrote his mother a letter recently, and among other things he said that he had "got to be a K. P." On receipt of the letter the good mother, with love in her heart for her boy, hastened to a jewelry store and informed the jeweler that she wished to buy a K. of P. ring for her son, saying that she had received a letter from him stating that he had become a K. P. A ring was selected, paid for and prepared for mailing. In due time the "K. P. aviator" received the package containing the ring and a letter from his mother, in which she commended him on the step he had taken and that she was sending him this ring to show her appreciation.

The young man at once saw that his mother was laboring under a mistake, as he was not a member of the Knights of Pythias, as she supposed, but instead he was kitchen police at the aviation grounds. He at once wrote his mother, explaining the meaning of his letter, and kept the matter a secret for some time, but it was too good, and he told the story to a party of people who were visiting at the field.

British National Anthem.

The authorship of the British National anthem furnishes one of those evergreen subjects of dispute which delight the soul of individuals whose joy it is to write letters to the press, observes a British exchange. Probably there will also be conflicting evidences on the question, but the common opinion now is that Henry Carey, who died in October, 1743, was the author. At any rate, Carey sang the song as his own composition at a dinner party in Cornhill, while shortly afterwards he approached a publisher with the manuscript. It was not at once accepted, and seems to have been first sung in public in 1745—two years after Carey's death.

Oil From Melon Seeds.

A genuine American invention originated at Rocky Ford, where a melon-grower named Burrill, with the faculty of inductive reasoning, found out that a clear, rich oil can be expressed from the seeds of cantaloupes, notes the Chicago Tribune. He submitted samples to government chemists at Washington, who notified him that their tests indicated a new table oil of the same texture and color as olive oil, one which needed no refining process. There is wide significance in this discovery, which indicates melons, squash and pumpkin seeds, as perhaps those of citrus fruit as well, as a prolific source of oil supply.

Consulting The Farmer About Fertilizing Practices

REPRESENTATIVE SOUTHERN FARMERS SELECTED BY COUNTY AGENTS, TELL WHAT THEY ARE DOING THROUGH THE USE OF FERTILIZERS—VALUABLE DATA OF PRACTICAL SORT

By J. N. Harper, Director, Soil Improvement Committee, Atlanta, Ga.

What do the farmers themselves say about the use of fertilizers? Certainly no one is more qualified to speak as to their value than they. This question has been asked of a great many farmers in the Southeast, and their answers are most enlightening.

The writer obtained through the County Demonstration Agents the names of more than a thousand of the most representative farmers living in the states of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia. To these were sent a questionnaire asking for information as to the yields obtained from cotton and corn, and the formula and amount of fertilizer used. They were also asked to give the soil type. Several hundred answers were received and these have been carefully classified according to crop yields.

Results on Cotton Yields.

Grouping the reports of the farmers from the Coastal Plain Region, the following results were shown:

Average Yield Lint Cotton Per Acre	Average Amt. Of Fertilizer Used Per Acre.
166 Lbs.	300 Lbs.
250 Lbs.	375 Lbs.
275 Lbs.	518 Lbs.
500 Lbs.	645 Lbs.
625 Lbs.	780 Lbs.
750 Lbs.	840 Lbs.
1,000 Lbs.	950 Lbs.

The average formula of the fertilizer used was 8.6 per cent phosphoric acid, 2.2 per cent nitrogen, and 3.2 per cent potash.

Grouping the reports of the farmers of the Piedmont Region according to the yields obtained, the following facts are shown:

Average Yield Lint Cotton Per Acre	Average Amt. Of Fertilizer Used Per Acre.
320 Lbs.	200 to 300 Lbs.
385 Lbs.	400 to 500 Lbs.
438 Lbs.	600 to 700 Lbs.
540 Lbs.	800 Lbs.

The fertilizer formula for cotton used on the sandy clay loams of this region averaged 8.6 per cent phosphoric acid, 2.65 per cent nitrogen, and 2.11 per cent potash.

Quite a number of farmers in both regions reported the use of nitrate of soda as a side application in addition to the fertilizer. The quantity used ranged from 40 to 100 lbs. per acre.

Results On Corn Yields.

The average yield of corn from all those reporting from the Coastal Plains Region was 36.3 bushels per acre and the average amount of fertilizer used was 444 pounds.

The average formula of this fertilizer was 8.4 per cent phosphoric acid, 3.1 per cent nitrogen, and 2.6 per cent potash.

After classifying the reports according to yields, the following results were obtained:

Average Yield Of Corn Per Acre	Average Amt. Of Fertilizer Used Per Acre.
20 Bushels	310 Lbs.
25 Bushels	355 Lbs.
30 Bushels	404 Lbs.
35 Bushels	450 Lbs.
40 Bushels	469 Lbs.
45 Bushels	566 Lbs.

The reports from the Piedmont Region showed the average yield from all reporting as 33.2 bushels of corn per acre with the average amount of fertilizer 330 pounds.

The formula averaged 8.7 per cent phosphoric acid, 2.5 per cent nitrogen, and 1.9 per cent potash. The formula reported for both cotton and corn was given as used prior to the World War.

Classifying the reports into groups according to yields, the following results are shown:

Average Yield Of Corn Per Acre	Average Amt. Of Fertilizer Used Per Acre.
15 Bushels	183 Lbs.
25 Bushels	281 Lbs.
30 Bushels	350 Lbs.
45 Bushels	500 Lbs.

The above results from the farmers themselves strikingly coincide with the results obtained at the southern experiment stations, and these figures show that as the use of fertilizers is increased, so is agricultural production increased.

Many thousands of acres of land in the Coastal Plains of the South, when first cleared, did not produce more than 10 bushels of corn per acre. Today, they are producing from 40 to 80 bushels, by the liberal use of fertilizers.

Crop yields must be greatly increased to meet the constantly growing demand for foodstuffs and other agricultural products. The most economical way to produce crops is by increasing the acre yield, and there are but two ways of doing this—by better cultural methods and by the more liberal use of plant food.

THAT EMPTY PULPIT

And Why Sometimes It Is Difficult to Fill It.

Ladies of the Congregation Have Decided Views as to the Minister Who Is to Be Honored by the Proposed Call.

A charming afternoon in April—one of those days with just enough chill in the air to make the sun feel comfortable when you cross to the sunny side of the street. Just one of those April afternoons when Mrs. Richard Pennington Hall declares she has been scarcely a place all winter and just must get out. Mrs. Hamilton Ross finds herself in the same situation, and they are not alone in their decision.

An hour later, on the main street of the town: "How do you do, Mrs. Ross? So delightful to be out this lovely day! Yes, just like myself, I feel like I had been shut in so long by the cold weather!" "Certainly I was there. We must turn out to hear all the candidates for our pulpit."

"No, I really can't agree with you. There was something about him that I did not like. False teeth, you say? Are you sure? I told Richard he had an impediment in his speech! Well, that settles it—let's have a preacher with his teeth growing in his head."

"Of course I'm sorry for Brother Hope if he expected to get the place, but we can't help it! Good-by, yes do come real soon!"

Mrs. Richard Pennington Hall hurries along (she usually hurries at everything) and some few moments later, when grabbing laces at the bargain counter, fortunately comes upon Mrs. William Cotton Adams, who is similarly occupied. Laces at bargain prices are forgotten in the thrill each experiences in a chance for a friendly chat.

"Oh, my dear Mrs. Hall, how do you do? I've just been dying to have a good talk with you. What have you heard about the last minister we had on trial? What do you think of him? Yes, in a way I liked him, but there was something about him I did not like. Did you notice it, too? Yes, he made all his gestures with his left hand. Is he left-handed? Oh, indeed. Of all things. So awkward looking. For my part, I hope we'll not get him. Someone was saying he had false teeth, too. That's too many defects in one man, I say."

"So glad we have had such a nice chat. Oh, we'll hear several more before we decide on the new minister. Heavens! 5 o'clock and time to close. I don't see why they close so early. Goodby, come and see me soon."

Two weeks later:

Mrs. James Jordan White boards a Forest avenue car and finds three of the members of her sewing society all going in her direction, so here was too good an opportunity to miss to discuss the new minister.

"Oh, how do you do, all of you? What did you think of last Sunday's supply?"

"Short and fat! Well, I should say so! And wheezy, too! I just said to

The Shawm.
A shawm was a wind instrument of the oboe class but with a wider bell. It is a very old type of musical instrument, as it is spoken of by the Psalmist. The Romans used it freely. There were treble shawms and bass shawms, and the name gradually gave way about the sixteenth century to "boy" or "howboy," eventually evolving into "oboe."

Working and Thinking.
There is no less virtue, rather more in events, tasks, duties, obligations, than there is in books. Work itself has a singular power to unfold and develop our nature. The difference is not between working people and thinking people, but between people who work without thinking and people who think while they work.—Henry Van Dyke.

Written Before Christ.
All the books of the Old Testament were written long before the birth of Christ, some of them as much as 1,000 years before, others from 500 to 1,000 years before, and none less than 300 to 400 years before. The Gospels and other books of the New Testament were written from 33 to 60 or 70 years after the birth of Christ.

Needless to Copy Others.
To do anything because others do it, and not because the thing is good, or kind, or honest in its own right, is to resign all moral control and responsibility upon yourself, and go to the devil with the greatest number.—Stevenson.
